Dr. Birbal Singh is Principal Scientist (Professor) at ICAR-Indian Veterinary Research Institute, Regional Station Palampur, India. He earned his Ph. D. (Animal Biotechnology) in 2007 from ICAR-National Dairy Research Institute, Karnal, India.

Dr. Singh has contributed to research and teaching at post graduate levels, and supervised research scholars on Gut Microbiology. His expertise includes biotechnology of gut microbiome, microbial metagenomics and metabolomics, somatic cell nuclear transfer cloning, stem cell biology, and cryopreservation. In addition, he has worked on Fishery (Molecular Biology, Biochemical Genetics and cryopreservation) during his profession at ICAR-National Bureau of Fish Genetic Resources, Lucknow, India. As a researcher, he has published more than 75 research and review papers in peer reviewed journals, and authored two books, namely "Textbook of Animal Biotechnology", and "Reproduction Biotechnology in Buffalo", and 20 invited chapters in various books by Elsevier, Springer and NOVA Publishers. He is reviewer for various international journals, and life member of assorted scientific societies.